

I found the supplied JomSocial plugin for JomComment lacking in some basic features. I was able to see what a user commented but not what the commented on. It was extra difficult to figure out because I disabled the comment titles which is where the link is built.

To address my complaints I "improved" the plugin by adding the following features:

- Ability to show the title of the original article title instead of the comment title
- Disable a clickable link on the title
- Modify the date format
- Limit the size of the comment being returned

I find with these changes it makes a little more sense to have this on the profile screen.
